

Biography:

Sotirios Kiokias is a PhD (University of Reading/UK) with specialization in Food Chemistry and Clinical Nutrition. He has worked as Research Manager at Unilever R&D (Holland) and National Technical University of Athens, supervising various projects concerning natural antioxidants as well as the microstructural and oxidative stability of food related emulsions. He has served as Research manager in Hellenic Food Authority (2004-2006, Athens), Policy Officer in the chemicals unit of European Commission (2006-2010, Brussels) and Senior Scientific officer in European Chemicals Agency (2011-2017, Helsinki). Since 1st of April 2017, Dr Kiokias is being employed by the European Research Executive Agency of European Commission as Coordinator of the Chemistry Panel in MSCA Staff Exchanges EU funded Grants. He has published more than 30 peer reviewed articles (in international journal and chapters in books) and participated as invited speaker in a large number of International Scientific Conferences. He is member of European Lipids & Food Association and active reviewer at various scientific journals (Elsevier/MDPI Publishers)

